

Silhouettes

Of Monsters and Men

It's hard, letting go
I'm finally at peace but it feels wrong
Slow, I'm getting up
My hands and feet are weaker than before
And you are folded on the bed where I rest my head
There's nothing I can't see
Darkness becomes me
But I'm already there
I'm already there
Where ever there is you
I will be there too
There's nothing that I'd take back
But it's hard to say there's nothing I regret
'Cause when I sing you shout,
I breathe out loud
you bleed,
we crawl like animals
But when it's over I'm still away.
A thousand silhouettes
Dancing on my chest
No matter where I sleep
you are haunting me
But I'm already there
I'm already there
Where ever there is you
I will be there too
But I'm already there
I'm already there
Where ever there is you
I will be there too
'Cause I'm already there
I'm already there
Where ever there is you
I will be there too
I'm already there
I'm already there
Where ever there is you
I will be there too
