

Forgiveness

A Tear Beyond

It was his time,
it was our time,
it was the time when I would have never let him go, and now my brother is gone, forever! There was my silence, there was a secret I kept in my eyes and mouth, there was a love and one heart that blind was making a choice,
...I will never forget... All the smiles between them, and my hate for it, watching her eyes in his eyes, intertwined hands for what they believed in,
all was fault,
if you can hear, forgive me!
All the tears you cried and all my tears on you, brother, are pulling me down, drowning in the sea of hell, far from you. And now, can't you see? And now, won't you see?
Her eyes in his eyes, the same looks that she gave to you, she's dancing with a lie, she's laughing without you, she's laughing about you! This nightmare will end and she will come back to me, her lie is my truth, I've lost love and I threw my soul away, and, brother, you were with me and you've never talked about it.
I wanna die! No words can stop... no words will stop this crying! Where are you going to? Across the night, will I see you again?

Across this life all this is due to my fault and now I want you to live again. And so, I will just catch my revenge!

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>