

Down

Point of Grace

Curiosity can get the best of me
As I try to conceive the unconceivable
All philosophy is escaping me
As I try to believe the unbelievable I wanna believe
Without a single question
Oh Lord, hear my confession I know, I know, I know, I know
Though I don't know everything
And I believe that I can never truly figure it out
You are so much more than me Above me, beyond me
So far over my head but I still see You
And I am finally making sense of it all
As the wisdom of this fool begins to fall, fall, fall
Down The story of my soul seems like a broken road
And how I'm standing here is unbelievable
Keep me lost in mystery, I'm down here on my knees
The only way that I can reach what seems unreachable I wanna believe
Without a single question
Oh Lord, hear my confession I know, I know, I know, I know
Though I don't know everything
And I believe that I can never truly figure it out
You are so much more than me Above me, beyond me
So far over my head but I still see You
And I am finally making sense of it all
As the wisdom of this fool begins to fall, fall, fall
Down, down
Down, down I wanna believe
Without a single question
Oh Lord, hear my confession I know, I know, I know, I know
Though I don't know everything
And I believe that I can never truly figure it out, yeah
You are so much more I know, I know, I know, I know
Though I don't know everything
And I believe that I can never truly figure it out
You are so much more than me Above me, beyond me
So far over my head but I still see You
And I am finally making sense of it all
As the wisdom of this fool begins to fall, fall, fall
Down, down, down, down

Down, down, down, down
