

Little Differences

Save Ferris

Something strange is happenin' lately
We no longer see eye to eye
The time has changed us, rearranged us
And it leaves me wondering why Now everything is different
Nothing feels quite the same
All the things we liked
About each other have changed I don't know about
The things that you do
What happened to the person
That I thought I knew? You go one way and I'll go another
When nothing seems to work
Then why should we bother, yeah We've let these little differences tear us apart
They're breaking up our friendship
And they're breaking my heart
You need me and I need you
If only together we could see this through You go left
And I'll go right
(And you go right)
Life is just one crazy battle
When we argue, fuss and fight You're like day
(I'm like day)
And I'm like night
(And you're like night)
But if we could get together
Maybe things could work out right I can see so much in you
Why can't we just see this through
Why must everything
In this life be so complicated But through all this pain
It's not you I blame
Why can't you feel the same And you're like day and I'm like night
But if we could get together
Maybe things could work out right You go left
And I'll go right
(And you go right)
Life is just one crazy battle
When we argue, fuss and fight And you're like day
(I'm like day)

And I'm like night
(And you're like night)
But if we could get together
Maybe things could work out right We'll try to make it right now
We'll try to make it right now
