Feelings Between the Lines

A Heartwell Ending

He's looking in her eyes tonight pretty soon he's going to recognize that the fire that they once had burning seems to fade fade away in the night time.
I know it wasn't right to lie, it's my fault I couldn't recognize, that the words that you told me contradict contradiction what you did in the night time.She must be out of her mind this time, she always said that, so distracted, try to read between the lines.I know you miss my lips come back because they kissed your lips I know you miss the places that I place my finger tips
I know you'll never find another lover love, who will love you like I did I know you miss the way we kiss the day away in my bed I know you'll never get these clever words outside of your head
I know you'll never find another lover love, who will love you like I didShe must be out of her mind this time,
she always said that, so distracted,
try to read between the lines.So here I go on my own breathing so never seemed so simple, wave goodbye starts to cry, I hope you come back come back come back here I go on my own breathing so never seemed so simple,
wave goodbye starts to cry,
I hope you come back come back come back home tonightI've been dieing just been try just been trying to make my mind up no ones told me what, what did I do to you now?
why did I do this alone? how was I to know.
I never said that I was breathing you in but I was,
I never knew that I was taking you in but I was,
I never meant to make you go away.She must be out of her mind this time,
she always said that, so distracted,
try to read between the lines.So here I go on my own breathing so never seemed so simple,
wave goodbye starts to cry, I hope you come back come back come back [x4]
here I go on my own breathing so never seemed so simple,
wave goodbye starts to cry,
I hope you come back come back come back home tonightCome back come back come back home come back home

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/