Fightstar

If time can break us down
And not keep us around
I won't wait, I won't mind, not this time I've started up the clocks
It's time I left behind
And everything we've lost disappears I've started up the race
It's something I can't change
And now we're not the same I'm running past the words
To finish up the faults
I won't wait, not this time I've started up the clocks
It's time I left behind
And everything we've lost disappears I've started up the race
It's something I can't change
Now we're not the same I've started up this race
It's something I can't change
Now we're not the same
