Roller

Quilt

It isn't the way you're cut-throat
It isn't the thing that we became
I can't break out from this screen
I haven't reached the final planeGive us the undiscovered
Give us the one we hardly can escape
I can't remember
This is not what I meant to say
Not today
Lost in pain
What a shameHoney, I'm a roller
Underneath the coals that hide me when it's raining
How can you believe
That everyone you meet is just here to entertain you?
But honey, you've been at my throat about itIt isn't a thing I gave up
It's only the way I understood
Some higher form of burden
That keeps me alive, in line with youGive us the undiscovered
Give me someone I hardly can replace
And I'm pretending
That everything is still the same
Just to blame
Lost in pain
What a shameHoney, I'm a roller
Underneath the coals that hide me when it's raining
How can you believe
That everyone you meet is just here to entertain you?
But honey, you've been at my throat about itPlease, you've got me hiding out
Please, you've got me hiding out
But I can't quite seem to make a noise about it
Please, you've got me hiding out
