Reflecting

Brian Dolzani

Passing by a mirror sometimes it's a little too clear
Catching my reflection confirmation I am still here

I don't know what I have until it's taken away
I don't know who I love but honey darling baby please stay

Reflecting turn the world around
Reflecting on the echo of a sound
Reflecting as if you called my name

I'm covering my tracks I just want to disappear
You can come find me but don't tell anybody we're here

Reflecting turn the world around
Reflecting on the echo of a sound
Reflecting as if you called my name

Passing by the old house memories are flooding my heart
We don't know where we'll go we only know where we start

I started out a young boy this won't come as any big surprise
Ended up an old man still unsure of how to say goodbye

Reflecting turn the world around
Reflecting on the echo of a sound
Reflecting won't you call my name

Lyrics submitted by Brian.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/