

For Everything

Natives

Just so you know, I don't want to be here anymore.

I'm tired and bored of picking broken pieces off the floor. I wish I knew the consequence of this before I did.

I wish I know how everything would end before it did. So please, I'm down on my knees.

I need you to forgive me for everything. I let you go, but wishing everyday I still had hold.

I've lost it all, and everything I had is gone for good. 'Cos I liked it more before I admitted I was wrong.

I miss that feeling, do you miss that feeling?
