Bike

Charlene Soraia

I love you so much, I could leave you
I could wait around for another you
To come along and admit
What's gone wrong is no ones fault
And I love you so much, I could leave you
The silence comes to a close
As the leaves fall to the ground
I can't believe a year's gone by
And it feels like I just found out
That I, I love you
Just leave me be and I'll let you breathe
I'll let you seek out all that you wish to seek

'Cause I love you so much, I could leave you tonight
My bed will stay cold till the morning light wakes me
Or until it breaks me
The silence comes to a close
As the leaves fall to the ground
I can't believe a year's gone by
And it feels like I just found out
That I, that I love you
And I love you
Well, I love you so much
I like the fact you tend to ride out on your bike
And come home after forging for the lonely likes of me
Me, me
