

Halo

Lewis Watson

Maybe you're lost
Maybe you're scared
Maybe you're lonely
Or you haven't got there yet
Falling apart, come away at the seams
Even when you're wide awake, drowning in your dreams

It's a wonder you don't know how wonderful you are
So maybe I should show you
That you have a halo
You have a halo
You have a halo
But maybe you don't know
You have a halo
You have a halo
You have a halo
But maybe you don't know

What is the use of just giving in
You know that if you keep this up you'll be more scars than skin
Maybe once in a while I could help you because they say a problem shared is a problem cut in two

It's a wonder you don't know how wonderful you are
So maybe I should show you
That you have a halo
You have a halo
You have a halo
But maybe you don't know
You have a halo
You have a halo
You have a halo
But maybe you don't know
