

Wherever You Are

David Mead

Wherever you are bring it home
Accidents will happen even when you've run so far
Wherever you are Im alone, pining for a shooting star
Wherever you areYou sailed away on an ocean that shore's dried up
Slipped away through a crack in your favorite cup
Fairy princess, feathers in dried up tarAnd wherever you are, bring it home
Accidents will happen even when you've run so far
Wherever you are Im alone, pining for a shooting star
Wherever you areDid you wait till the sun was out of season?
Better fade into shadows or you might get burned
When you're high, hear my words and you'll believe them
Consolation for a lesson that you might have learnedEvery road that could possibly lead to you
I'm rolling out this melody made for you
Dying young, well baby, its not so hard
Come backWherever you are, bring it home, accidents will happen
Even when you've run so far
Wherever you are Im alone pining for a shooting star
Wherever you areWherever you are, bring it home, accidents will happen
Even when you've run so far
Wherever you are Im alone pining for a shooting star
Wherever you are, wherever you are, wherever you are
