Bonds In Which We Break

The Autumn Offering

Where'd those days go when I thought I knew you?
What happened to the person, I once loved?
Desolate thoughts are all I think of now
It's killing my mind and now I want to kill youI see you now and stare into those whore stained eyes
And wonder how I could let you lead me to Believe that you were someone good for me, you weren't You're just another blood sucking leechViolence breaks out, in my head
Passive thoughts are now, now thrown awayGoDespise and disgust are all I see in you now
I wish things could have been right between us
I wish you were the person you had appeared to be
But now my thoughts are gone and thrown awayBut now my hate is buried in me
Left for new seeds to grow from thisHow long will it be Until you notice there is nothing left for us?Spoken infidelities will never see our daylight again
So where does this all lead us to now?
I'll never be able to look at you again
But maybe that is for the best now we'll see
Death is now near my dear, we must part our waysOne thousand cries now die

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/