You Wanted More

Tonic

Love is tragic, love is bold You will always do what you are told Love is hard, love is strong You will never say that you were wrong I don't know when I got bitter But love is surely better when it's gone 'Cause you wanted more More than I could give More than I could handle In a life that I can't live You wanted more More than I could bear More than I could offer For a love that isn't there Love is color, love is loud Love is never saying you're too proud Love is trusting, love is honest Love is not a hand to hold you down I don't know when I got bitter But love is surely better when it's gone 'Cause you wanted more More than I could give More than I could handle In a life that I can't live You wanted more More than I could bear More than I could offer For a love that isn't there I got to pick me up when I am down town I got to get my feet back on the ground I got to pick me up when I am down town I don't know when I got bitter But love is surely better when it's gone 'Cause you wanted more More than I could give More than I could handle In a life that I can't live You wanted more More than I could bear

More than I could offer
For a love that isn't there
You wanted more
More than I could love
More than I could offer
The harder you would shove
You wanted more
More than I could give
More than I could handle
In a life that I can't live
