

Somebody Done Changed The Lock On My Door

B.B. King

Somebody done changed
Somebody done changed the lock on that door
Somebody done changed
They done changed that lock on that door
'Cause the key I got won't fit that lock no more Now I came home last night about half past ten
Tried to get the key in the lock but I couldn't get it in
'Cause somebody done changed
They done changed that lock on that door
'Cause the key I got won't fit that lock no more I looked through the window to see what I could see
She was talking to someone else
I know it wasn't me
She said, "Daddy, daddy, daddy, daddy, you don't have to go
'Cause I done changed, I done changed that lock on my door" She changed the bed around, even painted the door
She even changed the carpet, I mean on the floor
My baby has changed
Oh she done changed that lock on my door
'Cause the key I got won't fit that lock no more Well, I walked down the street, lookin' where I used to go
She's got a mean black snake now, and I can't go there no more
My baby has changed
She done changed that lock on my door
And the key I got won't fit that lock no more
