Promise You'll Stay

Joshua Creek

Could it be possible? Could it really be true? could the days of raising you already be thru? It seems impossible. It's so unfair. I was just rocking you to sleep right over there. well they say life is funny, though I'm not laughing now. You see, my little girl is leaving and I'll have to keep breathing somehow.
It's the saddest of joys, the happiest of tears. It's heartbreaking gladness, embracing of fears. Today is your wedding, but I'd go back in time, if just for a moment, and hold your tiny hand in mine.
Your first baby steps were on this very floor, but the steps you're taking now lead right out the door. You won't need a father like you did in days past, but I'll always need the girl who grew up too fast. In the blink of an eye, the cliche comes true, "they are gone before you know it." Now one of them is you.
It's the saddest of joys, the happiest of tears. It's heartbreaking gladness, embracing of fears. Today is your wedding,but I'd go back in time,if just for a moment and hold your tiny hand in mine.
From your first laugh to your first love,I stood by and watched you with pride. A fairy princess, a ballerina, today you're a bride. now the battle is over and what have I won? not goodbye to a daughter, but hello to a son.
It's the saddest of joys,the happiest of tears. It's heartbreaking gladness, embracing of fears. Today is your wedding but I'd go back in time,if just for a moment, and hold your tiny hand in mine.
So I'll give you away if you promise you'll stay.

Lyrics Submitted by The Dragon Girl

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/