

Melt

Melanie C

Caught in the eye of a storm
Where we are born, no truth is spoken
Seems so long ago and you really don't know
How you got broken, feel me Give a little bit of love for your people
But save a little bit of love for yourself
Have a little bit of trust in the way you feel
And see your heart melt Send a little bit of hope down the airwaves
Find a little bit of gold, it might help
You've got to have a little bit of faith in everything you know
Then let your heart melt Now is your time to rise, the one you can fly
I know why you sent me, feel me Give a little bit of love for your people
But save a little bit of love for yourself
Have a little bit of trust in the way you feel
And see your heart melt Send a little bit of hope down the airwaves
Find a little bit of gold, it might help
You've got to have a little bit of faith in everything you do
Then watch you heart, feel your heart melt Send a little bit of hope down the airwaves
Find a little bit of gold, it might help
You've got to have a little bit of faith in everything you know
Then let your heart, feel your heart melt

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>