

Heat in the Glow

Bonfire

When your body says yes
But your heart says noAnother night, you're out alone
 You try to find someone to build a little home
 You've lost your trust in what you feel
That's why you lock your heart with some big sealStill you're hungry for affection
 For something deep you can rely on
Somebody's out there but you are scared to tryWhen your body says yes
 But your heart says noYou're missing desire
 So that your love can grow
 The fire is hot, still there's no heat in the glow
When your heart says noSometimes your wish is your command
 And then you're doing things
 Your heart don't understand
 You hesitate 'cause you ain't sure
But the way he kissed was deep and pureAin't no way of medication
 When your heart has got no clue
Ain't nothing you can say or doWhen your body says yes
 But your heart says noYou're missing desire
 So that your love can grow
 The fire is hot, still there's no heat in the glow
When your heart says noDon't lose your faith in love
 Just listen to the heart
 Sometimes the roads are rough
But you will make it homeWhen your body says yes
 But your heart says noYou're missing desire
 So that your love can grow
 The fire is hot, still there's no heat in the glow
When your heart says noWhen your body says yes
 But your heart says noYou're missing desire
 So that your love can grow
 The fire is hot, still there's no heat in the glow
 When your heart says no
