

Begin

Haste the Day

See what you want to see
Know what you don't have the strength to know
While creation groans with every detail we observe
Did you know that we would be blind to everything you've done?
Did you know that we would be blind to everything you've done?
You are everything
You are everything
Turn it all into dust
And form it back into one
Stars to the mountain top
Turn it all back to one
Return
You are everything
You are everything
You are everything
You are everything
The air I breathe
The blood inside my veins
Creation sings
As you spread out your wings
When it began
Did you know what it would become?
When it began
Did you know what it would become?
And I saw it through the holes in your hands
When it began
You knew what it would become
