Undivined

Centinex

[Music: Wiklund]
[Lyrics: Schulman]Seven enshrined souls
Stranded on a journey far
On a shore of sorrow
All the tears are gleamI'm your undivined GodThe rain is slipping through your hands
Feared by the golden thorns
A graveyard of wasted memoriesI'm your undivined God
Now descending on black withering wingsAs the sun burns red
I wrap my arms around you
A wasteland of burn marks, a temple of shadows
Reflections eternal,
I touched the deeper dawn
I enchanted your heart, the shades showed us the markYour life is written in blood
In love, in time, in fear
A dark faced stranger from yesterdayA void like a speachless silence
Or a sleeping empty lie
LIke a burning endless rainbow
From a dimension far awayTime to set the flaming sails
Off to the unknown we leave
Far away from the earthly
We are gone for now and ever
