The Lost Ones

Forte A Cappella

(Lyrics by Emmaline Carter)

Eyes deeper than the sea
Waves crashing in their depths
She looks to find her soul
But she can't find where it's kept

She looks for answers, there's nothing to find
She hopes for something, she's running out of time

You're lovely and lost, conflictions within,
You wonder what happened to be where you have been
Your heart is at a stop, emotions running wild
You don't know what to say and you don't know where to hide
And don't you see that your heart is greater and true
You're not the only lost one, darling
I am too

Many days pass without a single trace of time
She's lost herself in her dark cave of a mind
Trails are dark, long and hard, and winding too
But nothing seems to stop her from looking through

She looks for answers, there's nothing to find
She hopes for something that isn't there, she still wastes her time

You're lovely and lost, conflictions within,
You wonder what happened to be where you have been
Your heart is at a stop, emotions running wild
You don't know what to say and you don't know where to hide
And don't you see that your heart is greater and true
You're not the only lost one, darling
I'm lost too

Ohh...

Eyes deeper than the sea
Waves crashing in their depths
She looks to find her soul
But she can't find where it's kept
