Non Believer

London Grammar

We both know that you wanna love her
Skies are open crying, please don't believe her
'Cause she'll tell you lies and then say it doesn't matter
And you're pleased to see her calling them non-believersBut maybe she loves you and I'm just a preacher
Those burning skies and all who don't believe her
Non-believers, no
Don't believe her, noAll that we are, all that we need
They're different things
Oh, maybe what we are and what we need
They're different thingsDo you realize again, you chased an idea
Healed an earth behind some broken creature
Maybe she loves you and I'm just a preacher
Non-believers crying don't believe her
Don't believe her, no
Don't believe her, noAll that we are, all that we need
They're different things
Oh, maybe what we are and what we need
They're different thingsGive you my all and you're taking my everythingAll that we are, all that we need
They're different things
Oh, maybe what we are and what we need
They're different thingsAll that we are, all that we need
They're different things
Oh, maybe what we are and what we need
They're different things
All that we are, that we need
They're different things
All what we are, what we need
Oh what we are, what we need

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/