

Clocks Go Forward

James Bay

Clocks Go Forward - James Bay
Darkness bleeding in, the sun is getting low
No diamonds in the trees, only leaves of gold
And our long days in the heat haze start to fade
We can hide under sheets, under heavy covers
So deep as the night draws in
And we'll be slow honey lovers 'til the clocks go forward again
Again, again, again yeah
When there's no blue above, gonna keep my summer clothes
'Cause there's still a field of green underneath the falling snow
When our hands grow so cold and hard to hold
We can hide under sheets, under heavy covers
So deep as the night draws in
And we'll be slow honey lovers 'til the clocks go forward again
Again, again, again yeah
Stay warm, close your eyes
Let time fly
Stay close, stay right here
Nothing to fear
And we'll hide under sheets, under heavy covers
So deep as the night draws in
And we'll be slow honey lovers 'til the clocks go forward again
Again, again, again yeah, And again
