Too Clever By Half

The Long Blondes

Too cleaver by halfI know your only doing what comes naturally (x2)Oh you, you and her a pretty girl
You both plan to leave your lovers
And run off with each other
And leave us to look like foolsOh you, you said I know I've been unkind
And you swore blinded it was the last time you'd ever leave a girl behind
But how did she know you were telling the truth?Oh you thought you were clever
You thought you were smart
But you were just too clever by half
But you were just too clever by halfwhile you were making plans I was going with her man
Then we left you to be clever
To be clever togetherOh you, you thought that you were pretty smart
But when you and her were out I would go round to his house
And I don't have to tell you what we did nextNo I don't have to tell you what we did next (x3)But you're not so clever now
Oh you thought you were clever
You thought you were smart
But you were just too clever by half
But you were just too clever by halfwhile you were making plans I was going with her man
Then we left you to be clever
To be clever togetherI know your only doing what comes naturally (x4)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/