

Ordinarily

Chase Johanson

The sand moves down the hourglass and the time it ticks away
I feel so odd and obvious in the things I want to say
'Cuz every little second I lose control and the feeling I get never makes me full
And it's hard but it won't ever slow down, ah yaThe message that I'd send to you is one I've well prepared
I've read it in my head so much I've lost the sense of care
'Cuz every little second I lose control and the feeling I get never makes me full
And it's hard but it won't ever slow downYou don't know the feeling I get
And I feel it in the back of my neck
But it's hard to see the things I need and you can try to endlessly please
So ordinarily
Well the beat it moves so merrily and the drinks they spill around
I lock my eyes onto yours and then onto the ground
'Cuz every little second I lose control and the feeling I get never makes me full
And it's hard but it won't ever slow downYou don't know the feeling I get
And I feel it in the back of my neck
But it's hard to see the things I need and you can try to endlessly please
So ordinarilyIt's not hard to pretend
Outcomes of the end
It comes and it goes
So be what you know
You don't know the feeling I get
And I feel it in the back of my neck
But it's hard to see the things I need and you can try to endlessly please
So ordinarilyOrdinarily (x4)
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>