

Hello

Kt Mulholland

"Hello"

Falling in love is like a runaway train,
When you hold on tight, despite the pain
You could try to get off, or you could take a chance
Through a million miles of circumstance
I know, I know

Falling in love is like an atom bomb,
Inside your chest, there's a monster now
If you talk too loud, you'll wake him up
And if you wake him up, you'll set it off
I know, I know

Hello, hello
I never thought I'd feel this way again
And who am I
Am I the I I hear inside my head

Falling in love is like a show gone wrong,
You're on the stage when you forget the song
Everyone's watching and the lights are on
And they all know the words because they love this song,
I know, I know

Falling in love is like a car that won't start
You got somewhere to go and it's getting dark
The lights don't work and you're stuck in park
The battery's dead, just like your heart
I know, I know

Hello, hello
I never thought I'd feel this way again
And who am I
Am I the I I hear inside my head

Am I the I am I hear inside my head?
Are we the ones that spent the weekend in your bed
Hello hello hello hello

Am I the I am I hear inside my head
Are we the ones that spent the weekend in your bed
You are the you that made this heart such a mess
Confess, confess

Hello Hello hello

Lyrics Submitted by KT Mulholland

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>