

Too Young

Room 94

I was trying i meant every word still kicked me to the curb you were lying said you'd give me all of your loving but your face, you were bluffing the cards have been dealt all the heartache i felt they said you were trouble delusive, it's my fault I'm the one to blame things will never be the same i fucking let you slip away i fucking let you slip awaywhat are you afraid of we'll show them what we're made of just take a chance and hold my hand ill take you there
what are you afraid of don't be scared of lovei feel like all eyes are watching me whenever i walk down the street i feel like feel like i need a drink it kinda helps me sleep in hibernation and hiding away my heart is breaking it feels like I've been played I'm the one to blame
things will never be the same
i fucking let you slip away
i fucking let you slip awaywhat are you afraid of
we'll show them what were made of
just take a chance and hold my hand
ill take you there
what are you afraid of
don't be scared of lovewe were too young we thought it was love we were too young it wasn't enough we were too young we thought it was love
we were too young it wasn't enough

we were too young we thought it was love
we were too young it wasn't enough
we were too young we thought it was love we were too young
we were too young we thought it was love
we were too young it wasn't enough
we were too young we thought it was love we were too young what are you afraid of we'll show them what we're made of
just take a chance and hold my hand
i'll take you there
what are you afraid of
don't be scared of love

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>