

Breaking Skin

Nonpoint

I need more than just blood and air to survive
There's a hole so deep and cold
It will never see the light of day Until you feel the skin break... Eyes are always falling on you
But that itch, it keeps calling, calling
Yeah, eyes are always falling on you
And that itch, it keeps calling, calling I need more than just blood and air to survive
(How can I give you any more when there's nothing left?)
There's a hole so deep, so cold
It will never see the light of day (How can I give you any more when there's nothing?) Until you feel the skin break... Eyes are always falling on you
But that itch, it keeps calling, calling
Yeah, eyes are always falling on you
And that itch, it keeps calling, calling We're weaker than we care to admit
We scratch and itch, we're graveyard shifting
Biting and barking, fueling and sparking
That fire, that itch, and breaking the skin again Until you feel the skin break... Eyes are always falling on you
(Those eyes, those eyes, those eyes, those eyes)
But that itch, it keeps calling, calling
(That itch, that itch, that itch, that itch)
Yeah, eyes are always falling on you
(Those eyes, those eyes, those eyes, those eyes)
And that itch, it keeps calling, calling
(That itch, that itch, that itch, that itch)

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>