

Edward Hopper

Jesse Malin

These are descending chords
These are descending times
These are disposable situations Oh, somewhere in the night
Oh, somewhere in the night On a tip from Jack downtown
All the kids they hang around
Like an Edward Hopper Painting Shattered dreams and a cymbal crash
Product of the working class
With all the usual disclaimers Oh, somewhere in the night
Oh, somewhere in the night
Keep on burning out that light
Oh, somewhere in the night Find a time place where time will stop
Playing Frankie Teardrop
When all your friends have all grown up Between the gossip and the gospel
At the hotel she was high
You don't know how desperate I've become Oh, somewhere in the night
Oh, somewhere in the night
Keep on burning out that light
Oh, somewhere in the night You can't blame me no more
You can't blame me no more
You don't where I've been
You can't blame me no more I know your father told you
And your mother never held you
How'd they let you stay away so long Oh, somewhere in the night
Oh, somewhere in the night
Keep on burning out that light
Oh, somewhere in the night Hey, child with all your might
Oh somewhere in the night
