

In Cold Blood

Otep

Something's wrong with me....

Something's wrong with me....

Something's wrong with me....

No.

Nothing's wrong with me.From my perch

These mountains rise like razors

Against the slow weight

Of the night

These little lights

Burn like riot fires

Along the jagged walls

Somewhere out there

A fresh face is cutting lines

On a heated plate

Somewhere out there

She just sacrifices her lifeSomething's wrong with me...

For thinking there's something right with you.

Now my thoughts float like moths

Over a fading flame.Something's wrong with me...

For thinking there's something right with you.

Now I'm lost inside the smog

Choking on the shame(It tastes like suicide...a sweet death I can't deny)From my perch

These broken birds are calling

Singing their siren songs

They mesmerize

I forget to fly

Somewhere out there,

I just sacrificed my life.Something's wrong with me...

For thinking there's something right with you.

Now my thoughts float like moths

Over a fading flame.Something's wrong with me...

For thinking there's something right with you.

Now I'm lost inside the smog

Choking on the shameSomething's wrong with me...

For thinking there's something right with you.

Now my thoughts float like moths

Over a fading flame.Something's wrong with me...

For thinking there's something right with you.

Now I'm lost inside the smog

Choking on the shame We roam the night
Like wild animals
We chew into passive mammals
In cold blood
In cold blood
My fingertips
Touch her lips
To quiet the sins
She commits
In cold blood
In cold blood (It tastes like suicide) Something's wrong with me...
For thinking there's something right with you.
Now my thoughts float like moths
Over a fading flame. Something's wrong with me...
For thinking there's something right with you.
Now I'm lost inside the smog
Choking on the shame Something's wrong with me...
For thinking there's something right with you.
Now my thoughts float like moths
Over a fading flame. Something's wrong with me...
For thinking there's something right with you.
Now I'm lost inside the smog
Choking on the shame (A sweet death I can't deny....)
