Party Song (1917)

Catch 22

Today is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our lives
Today is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our livesI can feel the world's desire as its heart is set afire
Let it burn as it beats and we'll never be defeated
If we say that it will happen and we know that it will happen
It'll happen just the same and we'll be here to lead itToday is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our lives
Today is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our livesIf the government can't fight it, they will only try to hide it
But we're looking in their eyes through their moderate disguises
Let the new will of the people overcome this evil
The stage is set for battle as the curtain slowly risesToday is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our lives
Today is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our livesAnyone could be another flower on the wall
Stay true to principle and give your all for allToday is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our lives
Today is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party goingToday is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our lives
Today is the day for tomorrow and then some
We could keep this party going for the rest of our lives
