

Yelling in Sleep

Rich Aucoin

We never opened up and we lost our trust.

We never had enough, learning to adjust.

We never quite arose to our own defeat.

This is what we chose yelling in our sleep. They got away

They got away

They got away

Can't you believe it? We never had a rule for the world in space.

We're seeing everything, what a human race.

We're gonna lose the ground from below our feet.

We'll tell them what we found, yelling in our sleep. They got away

They got away

They got away

Can't you believe it? We never told the truth in the fear of death.

It was in our youth, that we held our breath.

We're always just behind our own conceit.

Spending all our time yelling in our sleep. They got away

They got away

They got away

Can't you believe it?
