Stupid Present

The Planet Smashers

Your face, got all bunched up I could sense the tension in the air,
You're pretty good at pretending but there's no way of fooling me
You said, how it was perfect I tried to believe your claim,
I knew what you wanted was a receipt for an exchange I tried,
please forgive me!
For the stupid present that I gave you...
I knew, what you wanted
How could I have been so stupid?
What was I thinking when I picked it off the shelf?
If I could, (if you could!) only try again
But I suppose that it's too late,
next year is so far away
you know you can't wait till then I tried, please forgive me!
For the stupid present that I gave you...
I had good intentions
had I only paid attention to the request you made the other night
What was I thinking
I must have been drinking when I picked it off the shelf?
I tried, please forgive me!
For the stupid present that I gave you...
