

Hindsight

Lifehouse

I'm climbing this confusion
Feel like I'm in too deep
These voices never sleep
They always turn
These wheels are always turning
A gypsy inside the madness
Held hands with misery
Became my own enemy
I feel the burn
The weight of hope that is still in tact
Bracing myself for the impact, holding on
Never give up, never look down, never look back
Hindsight only left me blinded
I was afraid and angry
Cut down my family tree
Wondered why I couldn't see
These fists were always closed so tight and shaking
They need release
Every break down all the crashes looking for pieces of me in the ashes
All that I am is closing in on open minded
Bracing myself for the impact, holding on
Never give up, never look down, never look back
Hindsight only left me blinded
Every break down, all the crashes
All that I am is closing in on open minded
