Looking For the Right One

Stephen Bishop

I've been so unlucky, I'm no good at playing games
I remember their faces forget their names
Thought I found the right one but she hasn't found me
So I bundle up my emotions and startLooking for the right one
But will the right one ever come along?
I'm looking for the right one
When will the right one come along?They say there's no use running after something you'll never get
But my heart says don't say no
Somewhere in this lonely city is the woman for me
But will I wait another lifetime to keep on?Looking for the right one
But will the right one ever come along?
I'm looking for the right one
When will the right one come along?They say love always comes and goes
Well, that I already know
Yes I really knowI'm looking for the right one
But will the right one ever come along?
Looking for the right one
When will the right one come along?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/