

She's Leaving Town

The Corn Sisters

Well my old car gave up on the side of the road the radiator let out a sigh as I stood there steaming as the traffic rolled by I looked on as you passed me by well I hitched up my pants and I rode into town there's nothing else that I could do the sun hurt my eyes as the traffic rolled by the bus stop, and it picked up you chorus...

she's leaving town, she's leaving town and I never will see her again she's going start her a brand new life gonna sit down and wait for my own life to end whistle medley of chorus well I see that a man makes his own luck in life but you got to have faith in the lord I just wanted some one to sing me to sleep when I tired and done all my chores

she's leaving town, she's leaving town
and I never will see her again
she's going start her a brand new life
gonna sit down and wait for my own life to end

well I see that a man makes his own luck in life
but you got to have faith in the lord
I just wanted some one to sing me to sleep
when I tired and done all my chores
when I tired and done all my chores whooo.....

---

Lyrics submitted by Allison.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>