

Short Fuse Burning

Less Than Jake

These are all the reasons why I'll be exploding tonite
And why this chip on my shoulder
Feels like a mile wide
It's from the overwork, overtime compromise So I'm looking tonight for some peace of mind
Maybe then I'll find some strength inside
'Cause I've lost any hope of ever changing
I'm a short fuse burning, I'm a short fuse burning And remember who I, who I used to be Thick as this one-trick pony
So strung on routine, yeah, stuck on repeat
Like you couldn't even believe So I'm looking tonight for some peace of mind
Maybe then I'll find some strength inside
'Cause I've lost any hope of ever changing
I'm a short fuse burning And everybody don't forget me, forget me
And everybody don't forget me, forgot who I used to be
And I'm a short fuse burning, I'm supposed to explore it
So everybody don't forget me, I forgot who I used to be So I'm looking tonight for some peace of mind
Maybe then I'll find some strength inside
'Cause I've lost any hope of ever changing
I'm a short fuse burning And everybody don't forget me, forget me
And everybody don't forget me, forgot who I used to be
And I'm a short fuse burning, I'm supposed to explore it
So everybody don't forget me, I forgot who I used to be

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>