

The Only Reason

Ana Popovic

the only reason
(a popovic)
ana popovic music publishing - ascap delta groove production publishing ascapback when my memory was seven summers deep i realized none of us will be here forever and i cried myself to sleep since the day that i could define the taste of my own tears i kept failing to fight those same old fears much before the road was a million streetlights deep i knew nothing could turn back the time until a heart stops to beat when your love became more to me than diamonds or dimes you became the reason i long to stop the time there is no reason
to think it's a lie
there is no hope
we're gonna survive
without love there's nothing else left to leave behind
but fundamental belief
that we're no one
without love
nothing else above you said, now that i found you time slips through my hands that there's no us in eternity makes it hard to comprehend if only every captured second could never be erased you saw that tear that rolled down my face,
there is no reason
there is no hope
we re gonna survive
without i love, love, love, there's nothing else left
to leave behind
without love
nothing else above the only reason i would wanna wake up years down the line
is to see is to see
is to see is to see
you're still mine after time
