

Firelight (feat. Lou Lou Ghelichkhani)

Thievery Corporation

Until the light faded away.
In firelight, dancing with no pulse.
In broken shadows, rising from the walls. Another groove without a name, carried through the floor.
Memory recalls visions of lust.
All my dreams attended, and then farewell, my love.
The train is gone, deep fog remains. Under the sun, sweet sounds remain.
The fire ice falling from the sky
Chased by the deep claws rising from the heart. Another groove without a name, carried through the floor.
Memory recalls visions of lust.
All my dreams attended, and then farewell, my love.
The train is gone, deep fog remains.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>