4th And Roebling

The Districts

Sunshine stretching like valley riverbeds,
They call my name from down the hall.
And if I would leave would you go with me?
Would you lay me down to get my sleep?
I don't know if I use my head the right way,
But then again who's to say that I'm wrong?
I'm sick of this longing but I feel to dull, when it's gone.
Living lives in two places wears my soul too thin,
I was walking from the station just to meet you in the morning,
I believe in dawned on me, I don't know where I began,
I was walking from the station just to meet you.
I ain't the same anymore, I ain't the same from before,
You've gone and changed I'm sure, I'm trying to find the right words.
I ain't the same anymore, you've gone and changed I'm sure,
You've gone and changed from before and I'm trying to find the right words,
It's the difference between us worth a thousand diamond rings.Sunshine, I believe we're headed the right way,
But then again I can't quite tell for sure.
'Cause we're running to the west to let our hands touch down,
Where you left me in the dark so long before.
Walking, street posts lying like daylight,
But I know it won't be light here for much more,
So I'm stalling and I'm frightened and I'm sinking down to the floor.
Living lives in two places wears my soul too thin,
I was walking from the station just to meet you in the morning,
I believe in dawned on me, I don't know where I began,
I was walking from the station just to meet you.
I ain't the same anymore, I ain't the same from before,
You've gone and changed I'm sure, I'm trying to find the right words.
I ain't the same anymore, you've gone and changed I'm sure,
You've gone and changed from before and I'm trying to find the right words,
It's the difference between us worth a thousand diamond rings
