Come Out Fighting

Pennywise

Voices you're letting voices tell you what to do when you yourself don't know voices you got one too so let it out and let us know what you're feeling all alone well I know there are times when you're feeling close to the ground and there's times when you may feel there's no place to call home and there's times when the only end in sight is the end you got to...Come out fighting problems I've got 'em too but keeping them inside is not the thing to do problems you've got to face hang-up's head-on before you know they're hanging you all alone so all alone been there before so please believe me cause I know sorry to say to your dismay your life is not the only one that you affect don't you realize that a apart of all of us will die inside when you yourself are dead
