Waste It All On You

Ingram Hill

She makes her way up to the front door
Completely numb when she hears my voice
Her burdened eyes show signs of light now
To me there's nothing there but coldWhen everything is changed
Can it be the same?I'm sorry but this just feels right
Something happened just last night
There's nothing anymoreI finally think I've found myself
Love has fallen somewhere else
I know it must be trueI pace across the bedroom floor
Numbness comes with a rage of fire
I blankly look up at a heart of stone
These two months nothing but a lieHow can it be the same
When you know everything is changed?I'm sorry but this just feels right
Something happened just last night
There's nothing anymoreI finally think I've found myself
Love has fallen somewhere else
I know it must be trueBroken trust can never be regained
It was never there to start
I have my reasons why
Not to waste it all on youI'm sorry but this just feels right
Something happened just last night
There's nothing anymoreI finally think I've found myself
Love has fallen somewhere else
I know it must be trueI know it must be true
I know it must be true
I know, I know

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/