Sentry the Defiant

Coheed and Cambria

Believer
Your spotlight's on the subject so incorrect
And suggestion
Suggests that I'm someone you should not respect

Oh you wear your faÃ§ade so well
Covered up in a plastic shell
You're a liar to everyone around you
Just don't forget

Face the honest truth
You were never you

Now be defiant, the lion
Give them a fight that will open their eyes
Hangman hooded, softly swinging
Don't close the coffin yet
I'm alive

And it's homecoming
And it's homecoming

Can you remember
When there was no wrong in what I could do?
So young
Biting off way more than I could chew

And then one day I grew too old
And my cares were now theirs to mold
Please accept this
As my resignation, it's time to go

Face the honest truth
You were never you

Now be defiant, the lion
Give them a fight that will open their eyes
Hangman hooded, softly swinging,
Don't close the coffin yet

I'm alive

I'm alive

I will now bleed for what I believe in
No more mistakes for them to make for me
So goodbye, it's my time for me

To be me

Face the honest truth
You were never you

Now be defiant, the lion
Give them a fight that will open their eyes
Hangman hooded, softly swinging
Don't close the coffin yet
I'm alive

I'm alive

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/