hai you shui neng lai jiao wo aiTranslation:Back to this port again, and I'm staying here without a reason

My heart is adventuring on mottled boat

Searching for the lost sandbarDrifting with the waves of time

I opened my arms with force

Embracing so many ups and downs

But I still miss the way you look at meI don't necessarily need you back

It's only when I'm staring at the sea all alone again

Then turning back to find that you are no longer there

Leaving me to wander around aimlesslyI don't necessarily need you back

It's only when I think back to the old times

There was so much emptiness besides you

Who else can teach me how to love?Back to this endpoint again

I want to move forward too

Seeing so much of this world

My only regret would be that you are not there to share the moment with meI don't necessarily need you back

It's only when I'm staring at the sea all alone again

Then turning back to find that you are no longer there

Leaving me to wander around aimlesslyI don't necessarily need you back

It's only when I think back to the old times

Who else can teach me how to love?I don't necessarily need you back

It's only when I'm staring at the sea all alone again

The tired silhouette is not mine

It's not the person I want you to see

I don't necessarily need you back

It's only when I walked into the crowd alone

Other than depending on you

Who else can teach me courage?

There was so much emptiness besides you

Who else can teach me how to love?
