

Circuit Vision

Tad Morose

They told me what I should do They gave me a way to get to you You never stood a chance

The screen is never truly blank and I can't hide my mind Behind lie words that tear inside of me Their faces find me anywhere and in my room I feel their stare The walls are cold they shimmer blue Their vision hides inside of you This Circuit Vision My memories fade and I appear Submerged and lost in digit beams I confine myself within myself A circuit glows I feel the need An interface 'tween man/machine They boot my mind and steal my dreams as they feed me deep inside Fractal code interlocking my spine Feeding new format breaking mine down System runs steady Colour code true ID# strands altered Connecting me to you
...this Circuit Vision
