Strangers Again

Holly Dunn

Strangers again just like before
Not even friends after bein' much more
Strangers again and will be forever
It hurts when love ends as strangers againI always thought a stranger was someone I'd never met
But the one who passed me by today I know too well to forget
We're strangers again, back where we started
But we'll never begin 'cause we're strangers againI always thought a stranger was someone I'd never met
But the one who passed me by today I know too well to forget
We're strangers again, back where we started
But we'll never begin 'cause we're strangers again
It hurts when love ends as strangers again
