

Ex-boyfriend

Brooke Hogan

Once I carved your name on a wall next to mine
Put a heart around it, and an arrow through it
That's how I much I cared
And we swore
That it would always be there
But it's not anymore, 'cause -
You said things
And I heard it from friends
And you did things
That you won't do again
You're just an ex-boyfriend
Something from the past
Something so stupid, I'll never look back
You're just an ex-boyfriend
I'll learn to forgive and forget really fast
I'm already on to my next-boyfriend
You're just an ex-boyfriend
Ooh

Once I thought your love was a permanent thing
Put a ring around it, and you can't break through it
That's how much I knew
And I swore
It would always be you
But it's not anymore, 'cause -
You played me

And baby that was so rude
You played me
But now it's all cool, yeah
You're just an ex-boyfriend
I can live with that
Something so stupid, I'll never look back
You're just an ex-boyfriend
I'll learn to forgive and forget really fast
I'm already on to my next-boyfriend
So don't say you're sorry
Sorry's just a word you say to get it past
I found somebody
Who makes me want to hang around to see this last

You're just an ex-boyfriend
Something from the past
Something so stupid, I'll never look back
You're just an ex-boyfriend
I'll learn to forgive and forget really fast
I'm already on to my next-boyfriend
You're just an ex-boyfriend
Something from the past
Something so stupid, I'll never look back
You're just an ex-boyfriend
I'll learn to forgive and forget really fast
I'm already on to my next-boyfriend
You're just an ex-byofriend

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>