Today

Zero 7

Sirens sounding out, are we going to war?
A film of yesterday on a broken down door
Send me something real to ignore or explore
And I'll show you all the things that I sawToday
The words don't mean enough for us to say
For us to sayToday
To steal the moment that we gave away
We gave away, gave it awayCan't remember when but it's happened before
Saw it all played out through a crack in the door
Send me something good for the way that I feel
And I'll show you all the things that I've seenToday
The words don't mean enough for us to say
For us to sayToday
To steal the moment that we gave away
We gave awayToday
We are the light that travels into space
Into spaceWe are the light that travels into space
We are the light that travels into space
We are the light that travels into space
We are the light that travels into space
We are the light that travels into space

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/