

Baby's Gone Home

The McClymonts

You can cry yourself a river
Pretend you're gonna miss her
Tell her that you love her
And wrap yourself around her Little bitty finger
Your heart's pulled the trigger
Now you're all alone
And it's nobody's fault but your own
Oh, your baby's gone home You can pave the way for a brand new day
Or you can shut the world behind you
Hide your face where no one finds you
Now you know, oh, your baby's gone home It's a shame, you never take the blame
It's a shame, you let her get away You can cry yourself a river
Pretend you're gonna miss her
Tell her that you love her
And wrap yourself around her Little bitty finger
Your heart's pulled the trigger
Now you're all alone
And it's nobody's fault but your own
Oh, your baby's gone home Every smile you see, reminds you of What a fool you've been
'Cause every heart you've ever broken
You've never seen with one eye open
But now you know that your baby's gone home It's a shame, you never liked the rain
It's a shame, you let her get away
It's a shame, you never take the blame
It's a shame, your chance is gone again You can cry yourself a river
Pretend you're gonna miss her
Tell her that you love her
And wrap yourself around her Little bitty finger
Your heart's pulled the trigger
Now you're all alone
And it's nobody's fault but your own
Oh, your baby's gone home Now every night when you're holdin' yourself tight
Beside the phone
She's not comin' home
Now you're on your own
Oh, your baby's gone home You can cry yourself a river
Pretend you're gonna miss her
Tell her that you love her

And wrap yourself around her Little bitty finger
Your heart's pulled the trigger
Now you're all alone
And it's nobody's fault but your own
Oh, your baby's gone home Now you're on your own
Oh, your baby's gone home
