

Sad Day in London

Rachel Carson

There's a little piece of me with you
For the day the sky fell through
And I hope you carry these words
With a beat of your heart
Bridges falling apart
I hope you're heard

Trains stopped running
On broken glass our feet are hurting
As we walk along the curb
Lights shining bright
Every soul trying to find
A safe world of their own

It's a sad day in London
A sad day in London
A sad day in London

I told you I'd be there for you
When your sky fell through
But now I can see you're flying away
Pointing your finger at me
Blaming hypocrisy
You're standing in your own way

It's a sad day in London
A sad day in London
A sad day in London

There's a piece of me with you
For when loneliness comes in view
And I hope you carry these words
With a beat of your heart
Bridges falling apart
I hope you're heard

It's a sad day in London
A sad day in London
A sad day in London
